

Technical Writer

JALI Research Inc. is looking for a freelance technical writer to edit and revise an existing series of software instructional modules for the purpose of clarity; with the goal of making each individual lesson as economic and easy as possible.

Contract. Experience working in the tech industry and the ability to read code would be assets.

If interested, please send a short email to teams@jaliresearch.com with a copy of your resume.